

Biliousness

Is caused by torpid liver, which prevents digestion and permits food to ferment and putrify in the stomach. Then follow dizziness, headache or biliousness, and, if not relieved, bilious fever or blood poisoning. Hood's Pills stimulate the stomach.

A FIRESIDE PIECE.

(Translated from Heine)
Outside the blast is making riot,
And through the darkness the snowflakes fall.
Here in my little room all is quiet,
And the snowflakes are falling withal.
Muttering, sit on an unchanged settle,
Facing the firelight's fitful flame,
Sings on the bob the shimmering kettle,
Songs that seem echoes of "old lang syne."
And close beside me the cat sits purring,
Warming her paws at the cheery gleam.
The fire is going, fitfully and flickering and whirring.
My mind is lapped in a realm of dream.

Many long, long forgotten summer days
Meet us again, wistfully, before my view,
Revelers, mingling among them fleetly,
Cock and hawker, and madly gay.
Muttering, sit on an unchanged settle,
New them, dreamlike in beauty rare,
Is a fairy grove that has burst in flower.
And sheds perfume on the moonlit air.

Cat sits full many of wizard story.
Trotter along with their crests avay,
Knight-birds, and the like, and the like, and the like,
With tapers of their squares, come riding by.

17 The game! the beautiful dream is over!
Away like a phantom the pageant drawal
O'er, dear, the kettle is telling over.
And pussy is yelling with scalped paws!

—Theodore Martin in Blackwood's Magazine

OUT OF THE MIST.

To him who has much, much is given
—and much is forgiven. Charles Marone had at the age of 40 wealth and health, good looks, a considerable reputation as a novelist and some basis for that reputation. He was not always popular with men, but in recompense he had been adored by many women. Having much, much was permitted to him—to be capricious, to be fantastical, to have eccentricities, to carry self-indulgence to the utmost limit, even to cruel.

He was capricious which drove him from London in the middle of the season and made him take a little tumbledown cottage near the village of Lowstow and live there alone, to the anger of his servants and the mystification of his personal friends. It was not all caprice—vanity came into it. His vanity was flattered when he mystified people. That is easy to explain—their mystification implied interest. There was yet a third reason. He was strangely practical for one so idealistic; he had made a contract with a publisher to finish certain work in a certain time. In the country he would be able to work without interruption.

It had rained all the morning, the day preceding, and the heated room in which he sat, with his writing and on his knees. In the afternoon the rain had ceased. The sky was still gray. The empty moorland, the water dripping from the trees, the cry of the curlews—all gave the scene a certain melancholy. Toward evening the mist lay thick and gray over everything. He was sensitive to this melancholy of the world outside his windows. Late in the evening, tired of his work, tired of the French novel he had been attempting to read, he went out. A laboring man passed him in the road and said "Good night." Marone asked him the way to the next village, Armmore. The man pointed to the road leading across the moor and warned him to be careful not to get lost. If people had been lost in the mist, Marone laughed, lit a cigarette, and, leaving the road, walked quickly along the track.

There was not a breath of wind, and there was no sound in the air. The mist hung motionless. The things that he had seemed to jump up suddenly out of it. A gorse bush or a stunted tree would take almost a human movement in the tricky light. Two or three sheep came close up to him out of the gray veil and as suddenly turned and scampered away again. He walked on. He left the track for some time but his road was lost.

He lit another cigarette and stood perfectly still. He had quick ears and was ready to catch the least sound of a footfall or of wheels on the cart track and to give the call which would bring him home again. If he heard nothing, he would still, he told himself, be patient enough to stand there and go on smoking while the cigarettes lasted. That time the mist would probably have lifted—it would be a new experience.

Suddenly, though he did not hear the least sound of an footstep, he was conscious that something was coming toward him. At a little distance the figure looked like a tall column, white and shapeless. As it drew nearer the mist passed. It was a woman, well dressed and dressed in gray. As it came close up to him he saw it was a very young woman, and that the lines of her figure were beautiful. She stopped when she was close to him, but did not speak. The silence seemed almost uncanny. He took off his hat.

"Excuse me, I frighten you," he said. "I am merely a harmless traveler lost in the mist, and I, I presume, are in a similar case?"

She laughed. It was a pretty, musical laugh.

"Oh, no," she said. "I know the mood, and often walk here when the mist is thick like this. Perhaps I am the kind of you," he said.

"I am sorry to give you so much trouble, but if you could put me on the track which leads to Armmore I should be infinitely obliged to you."

"Armmore?" she said. "I am going there myself."

He smiled, embarrassed a little. "May I?" he said, "may I give my escort?"

"Yes," she said. "Dodd's Sth me. We may as well keep together," will company this lonely night."

And now an idea which had been growing in his mind, a vague recognition, became more clear and

MUNYON'S SUCCESS

IS ONLY WHAT OUGHT TO BE EXPECTED FROM HIS METHODS

UPTIGHT IN EVERYTHING—ALWAYS KEEPING FAITH WITH THE PEOPLE, AND ABOVE ALL, CURING THEM OF THEIR ILL—WHY WOULDN'T SUCCESS FOLLOW?

Mrs. Wm. Shaw, 15 Montague place, Toronto, Ontario, Canada, says: "I have great confidence in Munyon's Remedies for myself, husband and child. I was subject to severe attacks of headache each evening, but the same did not last long. I have taken the same since using Munyon's Cold Cure and have been free from an attack for a week. I have not been troubled with an attack in the case of my little boy, the results have been truly remarkable. He has been ill for a week, has completely run down, has lost his appetite and was restless and irritable all the time. He has been taking Munyon's Kidney Cure and has been free from pain from the kidneys for a week. His appetite has been excellent and he has been sleeping well. His bowels have been regular and his skin clear. His mother has been taking Munyon's Liver Cure and has been free from pain from the liver for a week. The farmers of the district are making very large purchases of marketing material from the Rathbun Company. It is many years since the was such a local demand for lumber. A very good indication of a return of trade and increasing prosperity among the agriculturists.

The use of the word "knot" in connection with the speed and distance sailed or steamed by a ship in a given time is open to misconception. The difference between the geographical mile as the land measure and a nautical mile is that the latter measures 6,080 ft., or 800 ft. more than the land mile. Thus, when we read of a warship making twenty knots, it means that she is making 25 ordinary miles an hour.

On Wednesday evening

the teacher of one of the departments of the public school fainted the other day, overcome by the vitality and atmosphere of the room. This room has been for many years an austere hall, the rays of light a source never reaching it, and a proper circulation of air being impossible. The child frequently collapsed in the midst of the teacher.

The board of health should be impeached for neglect of duty.

Visible and Actual.

As compared with the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has increased 878,000 bushels; that of oats has increased 1,000,000 bushels, and that of corn has decreased 937,000 bushels.
Following is a comparative statement for the wheat market for the past week and the corresponding week of last year.

May 31 '98. May 23 '98. May 31 '97.

Wheat, bushels. 20,112,000 22,052,000 26,897,000

Corn, bushels. 20,112,000 21,000,000 24,000,000

Oats, bushels. 7,191,000 8,114,000 8,970,000

There are on passage to the United Kingdom 1,000,000 bushels of wheat and 8, 240,000 bushels of corn. There are on passage to the European continent 23,280,000 bushels of wheat and 1,000,000 bushels of corn. Thus the total quantity of cereals abroad to-day by comparative figures for a week ago are:

May 23. May 31.

Wheat, bu. 42,320,000 45,660,000

Corn, bu. 20,112,000 18,080,000

Thus the wheat on passage abroad to-day is 1,000,000 bushels less than a week ago. The 18,560,000 bushels: corn 10,160,000 bushels.To remuneratively, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States to-day, with that to the effect in Europe, is 63, 270,000 bushels, against 55,405,000 bushels a week ago, and 45,576,000 bushels a year ago.

FACTS ABOUT HEALTH

It is Easy to Tell if We Know How to Cure the Conditions Necessary to Perfect Health.

The importance of maintaining good health is easily understood, and it is really a simple matter if we take a correct view of the conditions required. In perfect health the stomach promptly digests food, and thus prepares nourishment. The body is then in perfect health, this being the element to the organs, nerves, muscles and tissues which need it. The first great essential for good health, therefore, is a pure, rich blood. Now it is certainly a fact that no medicine has such a record of cure as Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is literally true that there are hundreds of people alive and well today who would have been in their graves had they not taken Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is dependent upon a family medicine, a general regulator of the system, in tens of thousands of cases. This is because Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure. This is the secret of its great success. Keep your system in good health by keeping your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla, which absolutely fails to do any good whatever.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Women Unjustly Treated.

When Dealers Sell Them Common and Deceptive Dyes.

There are thousands of women who have heard of the great saving that can be effected by using the dyes of the Diamond Dyes are used and have decided to experiment for themselves.

Many of these women, thoughtlessly, will simply ask for a package of dye of the needed color when buying. This will request will allow the wiley dealer to follow his unsuspecting some imitation or soap green dye, worthless as coloring agents, but on which they realize a large profit.

Dealers who do this kind of business are treating and serving their customers unjustly. The dealer knows well that the Diamond Dyes are necessary for his customer to achieve success in her new work.

The Diamond Dyes are the only dyes that reputable dealers handle and sell. The wise merchant keeps a full stock of Diamond Dyes, because the daily demand is so great for these guaranteed dyes.

The woman who uses Diamond Dyes for her first dying work will never use other makes. Bright, strong, clear, lasting and fashionable colors are obtained only from the Diamond Dyes.

A valuable and most interesting article about Manila and the life there was written for the week of June 30th by Charles B. Howard, who has spent several years in the Philippines, and familiarized himself with the characteristics of the natives, and of the Chinese and European who monopolize the business and government of the islands.

Those readers of The Companion who remember Mrs. Howard's story of a Manila boy, "What He Did and What He Stole," which appeared in one of the January numbers, will look forward to this fresh contribution from his pen with the keenest anticipation.

MOTORMAN O'REILLY CASE

HE WAS CURED OF DIABETES BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. EVERYTHING ELSE FAILED.

Toronto, May 30.—By Telegraph.

With reference to his experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills and Diabetes, T. H. O'Reilly, Toronto Street Rail, was yesterday No. 624, writes corroborating the account of his disease.

Dr. O'Reilly says:—"For twelve years I suffered horribly, in spite of all the medicines I tried. Not one of them gave me least relief. I endured the torture of searing pains while urinating, and all the other agonies of Diabetes."

"Finally I was induced to give up Hood's Pills in trial. The very first dose did the trick and I got better and better with each succeeding dose. Three boxes worked a thorough and complete cure."

Approval.

"What are you reading about?" asked Farmer Corrington.

"I've just got to the chapter," replied Dr. O'Reilly, "where you men of the world are to what the United States can do the way of hustling when an emergency necessitates it. Even this time I'd been beaten had the Baldwins been told at the start how great was the emergency."

A Hopeless Invalid.

SUCH WAS THE CONDITION OF MISS RODD, OF BROOKLIN.

AN EDITOR RELATED THE STORY OF HER ILLNESS AND HOW A REMARKABLE CHANGE IN HER CONDITION WAS BROUGHT ABOUT.

For some five years the editor of this newspaper has made weekly visits to Brooklyn in search of news. One of his earliest recollections of the village was in noting that Miss Levina Rodd was the most ill child was well known, and as often as he could, he would go to see her. It was natural to ask who she was getting on, and the reply always came that she was no better. Time went on and it became a settled fact that Miss Rodd was not getting on, and Providence took mercy on her by allowing death to end her suffering. None of the villagers anticipated any other ending. One astonishment can be said as often as he could, he would go to see her. Mrs. THOS. McCANN, Mooresville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with biliousness, headache, and lost appetite. I could not rest at night, and was very weak, but after using three bottles of B.B.B., my appetite has returned, and I am better than I have been for years. I would not be without Burdock Blood Bitters. It is such a safe and good remedy that I am giving it to my children."

Eggs From Australia.

Not many years ago the possibility of shipping eggs from Australia with any likelihood of their reaching England except in a decomposed condition would have been ridiculed as utterly unworthy of consideration. Today the thing is not only being accomplished, but the eggs arrive in such fine condition that the price is now laid. This has been rendered possible by the universal employment of refrigerating apparatus on shipboard. The eggs, while still perfectly fresh, are forwarded by the Australian poultry keepers to the cold store and are shipped to England at the time when eggs are scarce and consequently at their dearest. Many thousands of dozens, packed in boxes with cardboard divisions, filled up with dry peat husks, are now forwarded to this country from November to January. In a recent consignment the local price of the eggs at the time of shipping was £1.25 per dozen, the freight and packing cost about 3d per dozen, retail on arrival at this side of the world—Chambers' Journal.

Refused to Express the Baby.

A South Sider called up the American Express company by telephone and wanted the agent to make a contract to bring a precious package from northern Michigan. When asked the character of the package, the man at the telephone said it was a 6-month-old baby. The person on the telephone said the child had been left, the mother being dead, had wired that she could no longer care of the little one. General Agent Nosler told the anxious father that he could do nothing for him, whereas the latter seemed greatly disappointed. Mr. Nosler said that 20 years ago the company accepted charges of that character, but the carriage of men, women and children became risky and undesirable and finally had been abandoned by all the express companies.—Chicago Tribune.

Interesting Germ Study.

Some remarkable observations on the longevity of germs in dust have been made by Dr. Miguel, a French biologist. In 1881 some earth was taken from a depth of ten inches and was found to contain 6,500,000 microbes per gram. It was then dried for two days in a temperature of 30 degrees centigrade, when it was found that the number had decreased to about 4,000,000 per gram. The dust was then sealed and put away in a dark corner of the laboratory. On opening the takes after a lapse of 18 years it was found that the dirt still contained 3,500,000 microbes per gram. From the surviving bacteria the tetanus microbe was isolated, and so wonderful was its vitality that it caused death in guinea pigs after an incubation period of two days.

A LIGHT WOMAN.

She had many loves as she had furies, And all her light loves sang her praises, But all her dark loves thought of her baseness, And pale sea dales.

Horn of the hollow shore, Horns and prays are never done.

We will not tell her loves of beauty over, And all the world will all be amazed By her with her, now since there's no lover But scatters on her bed.

Parades for thoughts in woodroot white as aspens For, for roses, rosemary, quill rosemary.

The sound of laughter, and have with Sorrow and mirth, long-drawn footfall still, Where the sun sinks lower and fades to green, Even at the wind's cold will.

Ah, full her softy in her quiet home! She was your sister, yes, and light as foam.

A CIRCUS ROMANCE.

"Why is Miss Ryland so indifferent to me?"

The question was asked by a curious woman who had just left the dashing young equestrienne's apartments at the Ringling Bros' circus one evening last week.

"And why is she so fond of a black costume?" queried another. "I noticed that she rides in somber colors nearly every night."

Bhind the answer to these interrogatories lies a story flavored with romance, success, and by a secret that makes the romance complete. There is sadness at the beginning and end of it, and just enough in the middle that is joyful to make the tale pretty. It is a pathetic narrative, on the whole, and interesting, though it does recount the woes of lovers.

Miss Ryland was not born into her art. She is not the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter of circus fame. Her abundant auburn tresses blossomed into radiance under the warm rays of a Mississippi sun, and her muscular brown arm, set in a cast, on her father's plantation, way down north.

Mr. Ryland was one of the largest cotton growers in his vicinity. He lived three miles from his plantation, on the outskirts of a pretty southern town. His handsome home was the scene of numerous fashionable events, and Elena, his only daughter, was the most admired woman in the place.

In the later eighties a small circus visited the town. Mr. Ryland allowed the management to use part of his spacious grounds for show property. Everybody in the village was out to see the first and only performance given by the aggregation in the little city, among others, Mr. Ryland.

In the circus was a young bareback rider, Alfred Julian, by name. He had been with the company only a few weeks and was but a mediocre performer. By profession he was an artist, but fame and fortune did not roll him way, and he gave up the pencil for more lucrative employment under the canvas. He was a good looking, educated fellow of 20 years and became quite popular with his fellow performers.

The young man was unfortunate on his appearance that night. In attempting to leap through a hoop and on his horse's back he missed his footing and fell with terrific force on the top curb surrounding the ring. He was picked up in an unconscious condition, and it was found that his right arm and leg were broken.

The accident stopped the show. The spectators left their seats and crowded about the ring to learn the extent of Julian's injury. Mr. Ryland was one of the first to reach the youth's side. The circus doctor was summoned and advised that the young man be taken at once to a hospital. There was no hospital in the place, and the only accommodation available was the temporary shelter of the dressing room.

Rydland came to the aid of the management by offering the use of his home to the injured man. The offer was graciously accepted, and Julian was removed to the then green Ryland residence for treatment. The generous, noble hearted planter went to work. He insisted on calling in the family physician to treat Julian, and when the circus left town the next day the bareback rider was resting easy in the most comfortable quarters he had enjoyed since he quit his eastern home three weeks before.

Julian required a nurse. Elena Ryland, sympathetic and loving, gladly took upon herself the task of ministering to the needs of the suffering man. She would be his nurse, she declared, and in her duty more faithfully and with greater care than could be expected of any paid servant.

The second day after his fall Julian regained consciousness. He opened his eyes and looked in wonderment on his strange surroundings. He did not speak for several moments. Then he inquired in a soft voice of his fair attendant, "Where are I?"

"You are in a friend's house," Miss Ryland replied. "The circus is gone, but you need not worry for your safety."

He did not worry. He suffered extreme pain and often would have screaming fits. The kind words of his watchful nurse helped him bravely bear his troubles in silence.

Slowly he recovered. As he grew better he learned to appreciate the service of his kind attendant. She was more than a sister to him, and her heart was filling with more than a sister's love for a friend in distress.

He asked all about his accident and the one that was causing him so much pain. He was somewhat humiliated by his bad luck and vowed he would never again enter the circus ring. Miss Ryland was fascinated with his stories of circus life and listened intently to every word that fell from his lips.

The patient was interested in his fair nurse. He fully reciprocated her attachment for him. A feeling stronger than that of friendship endeared her to him. His affection was strong, but he could not tell her. Her station in life, he thought, was so far above his that to dream of such a thing were folly.

The days passed pleasantly for the pair. For hours and hours they sat talking, or she would read to him. Lovers could not have been more companionable. Neither could regard the other more highly, yet neither breathed a word of love.

Julian remained at the Ryland house until he had completely convalesced. When he left, it was as if the son of the family had said farewell to those nearest and dearest to him. Alfred blessed Elena goodby.

"I am going to study art again," he said, "and I will write you when I get back again. I shall always remember your kindness. Some day I may be able to repay it."

Three months after he left George Ryland, wealthy sugar planter, was a business wreck. Faithless employee had robbed him, his property had been mortgaged, but there was not enough money to hand to pay off the debt, and the family were forced to give up their elegant home and take quarters in a simple cabin in the village. The blow was too much for Ryland. The worry and strain unnerved him, and he died a short while after sheer physical collapse.

Elena Ryland and her mother were in destitute circumstances. The girl resolved to be the support of the family and to that end sought employment in the town. She was not successful and in despair wrote to her friend Julian in New Jersey. She begged him to get her admission into a school. She was a fairly good rider and, with a little practice, thought she could hold her own in a second rate company.

Julian had made a good start in the east and offered the despondent girl another way out of her trouble. He proposed marriage. He had loved her, he said, many months, but hesitated, because of his lowly position, to ask her to be his wife. Now that they were both on the same level financially she might look with more favor on his suit.

He told her of the proposal, but she could not end up of regret over her father's memory, marry within a year. So she asked Alfred if he could not meantime secure for her a position with the circus with which he had traveled.

That's how Elena Ryland came to be a bareback rider in a big circus. Why she is not the wife of Alfred Julian is another story. Alfred concluded to go to Paris and finish his studies, while Elena was waiting for the year to elapse until they could be united in marriage.

Elena was successful as a daring rider, and within a few months after she started with the one ring show she received an offer from the Ringlings. She had been with them for the last three years.

Julian never came back from Paris. He took sick and died of pneumonia.

Miss Ryland did not even know that he had been ill until she received word of his death. His body was laid to rest in France.

The news of her lover's demise was a terrible shock to Miss Ryland, and for two weeks after the information reached her she was too ill to fill her part.

For a year she rode in mourning costume, and even now she wears black most of the time. She is quiet and does not mingle much with the rest of the performers. Her mother travels with the young woman rarely speaks of her love affair and its sad ending, and very few of her friends know the story of her life. It is such an unhappy story, too, that the young folks of the big, gay aggregation of performers do not like to hear it.—St. Louis Republic.

Whipped the Four Hundred.

An officer of the steamer Empress of Japan, recently arrived at Vancouver from the orient, tells of an exciting street fight which he witnessed in the streets of Hongkong prior to the sailing of his vessel. There are many sailors in that harbor attached to the war vessels of various nations, and they imbibe strong national prejudices as they watch the international game in the east. The trouble started in a saloon. The Russian sailor combined with the French and Germans and formed a double line down a narrow street and dared any Johnny Bull or Yankee to pass.

The English and American sailors joined forces and when they mustered 150 men against 400. Nothing daunted, they seized a line of jinrikishas, formed a wedge with them and rushed on the foreigners with a cheer. They broke the line, smashed the jinrikishas and continued the fight with the war vessels and pieces of the debris until, as the informant relates, they had the 400 allies badly whipped. The din was dreadful, but above it rose the singing of "America" and "God Save the Queen," both, of course, to the same tune. The authorities were powerless and appealed to the commanders of the warships who ordered the men to stop, and the hostilities ceased.

One rarely sees a more well-kept man than your husband. He always looks as if he had just come out of a band box."

"Very true," returned Mrs. Dapper,

"but—with a frown—"you ought to see the band box!"—Pearson's Weekly.

ORIGIN OF LIBERIA.

How the African Colony Came to Be an Independent Nation.

The American Colonization Society in 1820 designated 50,000 acres of land in Africa, there to found a colony which should be a refuge for American negroes. This government voted $30,000 and a ship for the purpose. A company was formed to make the colony self-sufficient, and a constitution was adopted for the colony, giving all power in the society's agents. The settlers objected, and from time to time had to leave. After a great deal of trouble, the colony was given up.

In 1840 disputes arose with the British of Sierra Leone, regarding the奴隸 trade. Britain took the ground that the colony was no nation, therefore the society surrendered all governmental powers, and so the negroes became slaves. The negroes adopted a declaration of independence and a free constitution. In 1847 independence was acknowledged by all the great nations in 1849, this country excepted. In 1850 the United States recognized it as a nation. The United States government gave the colony its independence.

Opium is said to kill about 160,000 persons annually in China.

The total length of the world's telegraph system has now reached 4,908,021 miles.

Miss Linda Fretts, formerly of Deseronto, has taken a position in the Bradford public school.

Three battalions of infantry and a corps of cavalry are putting in their annual drill at Belleville.

The Deseronto Troopers have received an order for four new carriages for the regimental artillery.

The sophomore Lovetta Rooney, now owned by Capt. Hinckley, has been converted into a tow barge.

L. Hopkins made several sales of his fancy chinaware this week to residents of Picton, Sydenham, Odessa, etc.

The law has been amended and county court judges must retire when they reach the age of seventy-five.

On Tuesday evening a company of cyclists were royally entertained at the home of Mr. Battick, Centre St.

The Supreme Court of the Independent Order of Foresters will meet in the new temple at Toronto on August 25th.

The clearing off sale at the Big Store is in progress. The staff had to be increased in order to meet the rush of customers.

At Belleville have moved back into their former quarters, the shop having undergone much improvement during the past few weeks.

It is thought that official notification will be received this month from the pope naming the successor to the late Archbishop Cleary.

At Belleville on Tuesday twenty-seven factories offered 1,955 white and 420 colored cheese. The majority of the board sold at 8 cents to McCargar and Watkins.

General Gen' Howards, who went through the northwest rebellion with the Canadian volunteers, has enlisted in the United States forces in the Cuban campaign.

Dr. Chonyhatka, S. C. R. of the Independent Order of Foresters, is on his way home from England and Ireland where he has been attending meetings of high courts.

G. A. Ireland's bicycle livery and repair shop on St. George street is well patronized. Mr. Ireland expresses himself well pleased with the patronage extended by the public.

Word was received last week from R. W. Geddis. He and his party, five in all, had reached Green Lake. All were in excellent health and spirits notwithstanding the hard work of their arduous trip.

Seven young men who went out on the yacht Swan last Sunday found the water unsafe to manage their craft which capsized and gave them a ducking. Parties went out in a punt and rescued the badly frightened youngsters.

In the list of successful graduates of Toronto University we observe the name of Miss Eleanor Deroche, daughter of H. M. Deroche, Q. C., Napane, who has received the degree of B. A. to-day. Her brother Ham has also passed his first year's examination in arts.

The board of works should put the corporation scythe in motion on the different streets. There has been a great growth of grass and weeds this year. A great many backyards in town require attention before weeds send out and extend their baneful influence.

A number of drunken men, supposed to have hailed from Napane, drove along Dundas and other streets the other day, howling and cursing, and abusing the poor horse. By the way who does not a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals be started in Napane and Deseronto?

Warden McCargar, County councilors Dench, Cross and McFarlane and County Clerk Aylsworth were appointed a committee at the January session of the county council to investigate the matter of fines and fees of county assessors. They met last Friday and will report at the coming session of the council.

James Warren's boat livery, at the foot of Fourth street, is now the Mecca of the pleasure loving public. He has a fine equipment of boats of all kinds and his terms are moderate. He also runs a bicycle livery and repair shop and has lately added bathtubs to his extensive establishment. Fisher men supplied with complete outfitts.

Although in number of ships the United States is not a great naval power, it must be remembered that notwithstanding great improvements in naval warfare were made in our development by that country. The old rigates of the beginning of the century were a peculiar feature due to Yankee naval architecture. Ironclads, monitors, swordfishes, boats with dynamite, the torpedo, and the delicate rangefinders which enables big guns to fire with uncaring aim are nearly all due to the inventive skill and excellent scientific training of the United States naval service.

Rev. Dr. Torrance of Guelph was chosen Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church for the current year.

The news states that Albert Harris, a Marchmont boy, who had been living with Mr. Alexander of Moneymore, was found dead in a field where he had been ploughing. Death was probably due to sunstroke.

At the Emporium lodge of A. O. U. W. will give a concert on the evening of the 21st.

Another Testimony

Having used your Balsam Antiseptic for over 10 years in my family it is with pleasure that I testify to its great value.

It has found it especially efficacious for bronchitis troubles and consider that every family should have a bottle of it ready.

HUGH BRADLEY, Postmaster.

Yarker, Ont.

The football is easily the most popular game in Deseronto can best be judged from the large enthusiastic number of spectators who are always in attendance. At the High School grounds on the evenings of the games one could hear all sides animated discussions as to the relative strength of the Stars and Match Splints. The success of the Stars in their first games was only to be accounted, then again, the well known reputation of such factory goods had to be borne in mind. Some considered the youth of the Star players a serious disadvantage as against the more grown Match Splints, who in addition were decidedly weightier from an avoidance point standpoint.

To decide these conflicting opinions the footballers of the Stars put up a game with the Match Splints shortly afterwards. The Stars were accidentally maimed by a flying Match Splint, but with characteristic grit, played on, largely contributing to the Stars' success. The game was a dead heat throughout, and the Stars won it up in the final class game, while the Stars all played well and bravely withstood the heavy rushes of their opponents, generally getting away with the ball. On either side, however, scores were first hit in which the Stars had made a number of most successful kicks on goal.

Owing to the large number of interested spectators, the Stars concluded to make the game a trial to reverse the result, and accordingly administered on their home grounds by the Deseronto Juniors. Quite a number of friends had driven in to witness the game, some of whom, it is rumoured, had staked the profits of recent wheat speculations on the results. There was a good local attendance, beautiful weather contributing to the enjoyment of all present. Owing to unavoidable circumstances Godfrey Band failed to put in an appearance. The touch lines were ably held down by a team of ladies from which it will be inferred that their gentleman friends were also in touch. The players however had much difficulty in keeping out of touch at times and it was evident that the girls held themselves in check from tumbling over the heads of the spectators. Promptly at 5:45 the ball was faced and the game was on; naturally there was much kicking on both sides. After the dust had cleared away, and the band and the Juniors had the ball, the next moment Stoddart intervened and with a "huzz" sent it towards goal. Some rapid passes were then in order when Johnson scored for Deseronto.

Act 2 now commenced, the Sunflowers playing hard especially at the beginning, the ball would insist on remaining near Deseronto scoring point. The first half was now near up when Skipper Harvey, by some brilliant tackling, navigated for goal and Deseronto again scored. Ten minutes after refreshments were served, the ball was again sounded after which play was again suspended. In the setting sun, the Sunflowers drooped their heads, but in good spirits and undaunted by the results of the first half, played with even more vigor. The fight was well sustained on both sides, when the latter were encased in a Saratoga, the digestive organs are toned and dyspepsia is CURED.

5 Per Cent

I HAVE A LIMITED AMOUNT OF FUNDS to loan on First-Class Farm Property at 5 Per Cent. Also money to loan on Village Town or City property, to be repaid by paying $1.00 per month, per $100.00. This will be a good position for a loan and experience shows a larger percentage of Mortgages are paid off by the borrower on this Plan, where his income is periodical, than on the straight loan Plan.

Head and Limbs

All Covered With Eruptions — Could Not Work, the Suffering Was So Great — Hood's Has Cured

It is a common complaint peculiar to my sex, and I broke out in sores on my body, head, limbs and hands, and my hair all came out. I was under the doctor's treatment a long time without benefit. They called my trouble eczema. Finally I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after I had used three or four bottles it was immediately cured. I kept on until I had used several more bottles, and the sores and itching have disappeared and my hair has grown out." — Mrs. J. G. Brown, Brampton, Ontario.

"I was all run down and had no appetite. I had a tired feeling all the time. I was advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so and it benefited me so much that I would not be without it." — Mrs. G. L. BURSTET, Central Norton, N. B.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills Hood's Sarsaparilla, 25c.

Mark Eves of Kingston died on June 3, aged 66; Mrs. Amanda McBride of North Fredericksburg on June 1, aged 73; also Timothy Palmer of Kingston aged 70.

It's not the cough, but what it may end in that makes it so serious. The cough may be cured, the serious consequence prevented by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, Price, 25 cents, at all druggists.

A good appetite

Is essential to good health.

Hood's Sarsaparilla creates an appetite tonic.

Strengthens the stomach.

And builds up the system.

It relieves the tired feeling, and by purifying and enriching the blood, it promptly and permanently cures all scrofula, eruptions, boils, ulcers, pimples and sores, strengthens the nerves, and gives sweet, refreshing sleep. No other medicine has taken such hold upon the confidence of the people as Hood's Sarsaparilla, and its record of great cures is unequalled by any other preparation. You may take Hood's Sarsaparilla with the utmost confidence that it will do you good.

The First Methodist church in Picton will be torn down and a new structure costing $22,000 will be built in its place.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver tonic. Gentle, reliable, sure.

On a quiet Saturday and Monday 28,912 pounds of milk were taken in at the Bloomsfield factory.

If you are not feeling well, why don't you take Hood's Sarsaparilla? It will purify and enrich your blood and do you wonderful good.

Large quantities of grain were shipped last week from North Hastings for the Montreal market.

THE MOST PROMINENT ARE FASHIONABLE.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion has become a fashionable disease. There are very few individuals who have not at various times experienced the miserable feeling caused by defective digestion. No pen can describe the keen suffering of the body, and the agony and anguish of the mind, that are caused by dyspepsia. Dr. La Loude, of 230 Pine Ave., Montreal, says, "When I ever met across chronic cases of Dyspepsia I always prescribe Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and my patients generally have quick relief."

Owing to ill health Rev. R. Ballantine, of Tamworth, has been ordered to take change and rest.

Signs of worms are variable appetite, itching at the nose, etc. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is the best worm expeller.

Mr. James Row, Belleville, Ont., suffered for many years with terrible pain in the back, rheumatic pains, and pains in the bladder. He spent $3000 doctoring, but got little relief. Doan's Kidney Pills have completely cured him, banished the back pains, and all the other pains and aches.

HE WAS ABSENTMINDED.

How Ex-Senator Ransom Was Once Extracted From Abstraction.

Former Minister to Mexico Ransom was at the house one day talking about his experiences in Mexico. After the minister left the cloakroom one of the members said:

"Did you ever talk to the minister when his mind has been occupied with a business?" And without waiting for a reply the member continued: "I did. I met him soon after his return from Mexico, and he was so absentminded he said:

"How is your sister, Frank?"

"She is well," I replied.

"The minister's mind then returned to some business for five minutes, and then he said:

"What is your sister, Frank?" And as before I replied that she was well. Five minutes later he raised his eyes from some papers and remarked:

"Oh, Frank, how is your sister? I thought that conversation was becoming rather monotonous, and to change it I asked her that she was very well.

"Bless me, you don't say so! I am sorry to hear it, Frank."

"He turned to his papers again for another five minutes, and hang me if he didn't say:

"Frank, how is your sister?" At first I thought he was gazing me, but, looking at him sharply, I realized he had forgotten the conversation, and I answered sadly: "She is dead."

"What do you mean it?" he exclaimed, jumping from his seat and extending his hand in a most sympathetic manner, adding: "This is dreadful. When did it happen?" I replied, "I killed her just now when I was in Mexico." And I told you she was well twice; then I told you she was very ill, and that didn't impress you. So for your benefit I have just killed her."

"The old man looked at me for a moment and then replied:

"You must pardon me, Frank. I was thinking about these papers."—Washing-ton Times.

Just For the Fun of It.

Garey is a cultured gentleman of Irish descent and Granton is a neighbor of Scotch ancestry who has equal intellectual attainments. Garey has the riper wit, and Granton the more robust soul to make game of Granton, who generally goes home out of sorts and thinks of a dozen bright things that he might have said if he had only come to him at the right time.

"Have you read Ian MacLaren's works?" asked Granton the other evening. "There's a writer here."

"I have not," was the prompt response, "but I am, having them translated into English and have no doubt I shall enjoy them."

Granton decided to prolong his call, and when he closed the front door the roof on the summer kitchen trembled.

"It was Piper Finlifter that saved the day there in India," said Garey in an gratifying tone a few evenings later.

"How's that?" asked Granton as his face lit up.

"It was the noise of the bangles that the natives were running from."

Now Granton is racking his brain and will not rest until he can give the Irish a most terrible swipe for the benefit of Garey.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.

GENTLEMEN—I think it my duty without solicitation from any one, to write in the interests of other sufferers, and give you a testimonial in favor of your me most miraculous remedy, Paine's Celery Compound. For more than a year past I have been suffering agonizing pains of sciatica, and after trying all that medical skill could devise, and using many remedies, patient and otherwise, I concluded to try the hot springs at Banff. I took the treatment and came to the conclusion that every day was worth a dollar, so the alcobal was killed and the officer took to their beds and were out of sight in a trice.

A messenger was sent to the king to inform him of what was going on, and the king sent a regiment of grenadiers to seize Uncle Curro and his cudgel. No sooner did Uncle Curro see them approach than, throwing the cudgel across them, he cried, "Cudgel, lay about you!" No sooner had the cudgel begun to shiver blos to right and left among the children until they had scarcely a whole bone left in their bodies. His wife ran to him and said, "At last, at last!" said Uncle Curro: "At last, Curro; 'at last, with a will!" And the cudgel he labored the wife so unmercifully that she died of her injuries.

The authorities being notified, the alcobal, accompanied by his officers, presented himself upon the scene. "Cudgel, lay about you!" said Uncle Curro, as soon as they appeared, and the cudgel received a scalding lusty blow from the alcobal's hand. "At last, at last!" said Uncle Curro: "At last, with a will!"

"It's not his business to ask you, it was our business to tell him."

"Oh, it wasn't, was it? I am supposed to tell him where I'm going, am I? Perhaps you expected me to tell him that I was going to market, and when I was going to the miller, and how many times I was to go to the miller, and what we do Sundays, and if I've..."

"Your fare, please, madam."

"My fare, well, you stand there and hold your hand till the check of doom, and I'll not pay another farthing for you, that exchange check. Take it or leave it, just as you like, but it's all you're going to get out of me. Throw me out if you dare! You're too conceited!"

"I beg your pardon, I might write a tract and call it 'The Faithful Doctor; or, True to His Duty.' True to his duty, doing your duty and you'll be happy. Sorry I can't help you alone by paying my fare a second time. You ought to be a good physician, and you'll earn it. I paid my fare, and I can't pay it again."

And she didn't.—St. Louis Republic.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION AT BATH.

On the morning of Wednesday June 15th the old town of Bath wore a gala appearance, the streets being decorated with arches, evergreens, bright colored bunting and Chinese lanterns; while from every flagstaff and available point many flags and other flags were flying. The band was present for all this preparation and the crowd, well dressed and happy looking visitors who thronged the streets from an early hour, was the embodiment of the spirit of the centennial of the founding of the town.

John's church, with an elegant engraving of the church, appeared in the last issue of THE TRIBUNE. The steamer Armenia carried an excursion from Deseronto under the auspices of Tyendinaga Parish, and for the benefit of Christ Church Parish Hall. The Royal Mohawk Band accompanied the excursion and discoursed sweet music at intervals, adding much to the enjoyment of the party.

Mr. Cunningham, Tamworth, was in town Sunday.

OUR FIRST LEDGERS.

THE BOOKS WITH WHICH UNCLE SAM
BEGAN BUSINESS.

They Are Among the Highly Prized Curiosities in the Treasury Department at Washington and Contain Accounts of Washington and Franklin.

Among the curiosities at the United States treasury department in Washington kept the hand written ledgers of the accounts of the entertaining tourists who may happen during the course of the sightseeing to visit the nation's capital and Uncle Sam's political strong box is a box of locks that contains the locks of all who see them, and the ledger is consists of a ledger, a journal and a blotter, or wastebook, and was the first set of books used for keeping accounts of the government, and when state papers were first issued to the government by the way, that is giving a deal of trouble to think today.

The books are over 100 years old, and
for many years they do the first link in the chain of the history of this country's financial dealings with its representatives,
both at home and abroad, during the period
of the Revolution and are most interesting but invaluable. They are both rare and valuable—rare as a specimen of the old time bookkeeping then in vogue, when there were no books ruled so as to divide the page into the present day columns, and when there was not an important branch of the government by the way, that is giving
a deal of trouble to think today.

The books are over 100 years old, and
for many years they do the first link in the chain of the history of this country's financial dealings with its representatives,
both at home and abroad, during the period
of the Revolution and are most interesting but invaluable. They are both rare and valuable—rare as a specimen of the old time
bookkeeping then in vogue, when there were no books ruled so as to divide the
page into the present day columns, and
when there was not an important branch of
the government by the way, that is giving
a deal of trouble to think today.

Absolutely and Permanently
Cures All Other Cures.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is not merely a simple preparation of Sarsaparilla, Dosh, Stilllinga and a little Bile of Potassium.
Besides these well-known alternatives, it also contains those great anti-bilious and liver remedies, Mandrake and Dandu-tion. It also contains those great kidney remedies, Uva Ursi, Juniper Berries, and Pippasella.

Not are these all. Other very valuable curative agents are conveniently combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla and it is cared for under the personal supervision of a regularly educated pharmacist.

Knowing these facts, is the abiding faith of the people who have in Hood's Sarsaparilla
a matter of surprise? You can see why Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, when other medicines fail, absolutely fail.

CARE OF MILK FOR CHEESE FACTORIES AND CREAMERIES.

Patrons should exercise great care in the handling of milk supplied to cheese and butter factories. The cows should be kept in clean, light, warm and well ventilated stables during the winter.
Food likely to taint the milk should not be fed at any time. They should have access to pure water and salt at all times. The cows' udder should be brushed with a damp cloth or with a soft brush before commencing to milk.
The milking should be done as quickly as possible, the milk being taken to the cheese rooms, which are the richest "stringers," which are the richest part of the milk.

The main points to observe in caring for milk are:

1. Immediately after milking strain through a fine wire and cloth strainer.

2. Remove the milk as soon as possible to a place where the air is pure.

3. Aerate by using a dipper, by pouring, or by an aerator.

4. Keep the night and morning's milk separate as long as possible. Use pails hung on hooks fastened to a pole under roof to hold each cow's milk separate over night.

5. Do not cool milk for cheese-making, unless from Saturday morning's milk until Monday. In hot, muggy weather, at any time when it is likely to be over-ripe, milk should be cooled.

6. Cool milk for the creamery to 60° or below after aerating.

7. Protect the milk from rain and sunshine by having covered stands with latticed sides to allow a free circulation of air around the milk cans or pails.

8. Wash all cans, pails, etc., immediately after use, in warm water; and when cold, steam them. Wash cans in the factory or creamery where-ever practicable.

9. Do not return whey, sour skim-milk, or buttermilk in the milk can.

CARE OF CREAM FOR GLEAN-GATHER-

ING CREAMERY.

Either deep-setting in ice water or the hand cream separator may be used in creaming milk for the cream gathering. Cream from the first deep-setting cans should be passed through water and be kept sweet until the driver calls for it. Cream from the hand separator ought to be cooled to the temperature of the cream in the can before it is mixed with the older cream in the cans.

GREAT BRITAIN'S LATEST POS-SESSION.

The territory ceded to Great Britain
by China on the mainland opposite the crown colony of Hong Kong is of military rather than commercial importance. The island of Hong Kong, ceded to the British by China in 1841, is still the chief port of the mainland by a route which is less frequented and which would be likely to occur if the warm cream from the separator were mixed with previous skimmings. At each addition of fresh cream the whole should be well stirred to insure uniformity of test and to save time.—J. H.

CASUALTIES.

Robert Lawson, a Grand Trunk employee, was hurt at Hamilton by a hand car, laden with rails, passing over his legs.

Thomas McGlashen, a deaf mutes, employed as a gateman at the St. Nicholas Hotel, Hamilton, was struck by a street car and killed.

The 7-year-old daughter of George Penny, a Grand Trunk employee, was fatally burned at Windsor while setting fire to a pile of newspapers.

John Mackayburn, aged 59, a married man, lost his life on the C.P.R. track at Castile, seven miles east of Reservoir. He was struck by the engine of the Atlantic express.

Albert Knox, son of Arthur Knox, Toronto, met with death Sunday evening while walking a rifle with two other boys on the freight train between Hawkesley and Toronto Junction.

Sam Wheeler, aged 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, and a boy of 14, were playing with an iron toy cannon filled with powder and small shot. The fuse was ignited with the result that Wheeler received the charge in the face. He died on Tuesday.

A LONG SERMON.

A clergyman preached a rather long sermon from the text, "Thou art weighed down with sins and waiting." After the congregation had listened about an hour, some one began to get weary and went out; others soon followed, greatly to the disappointment of the minister. Another person started, whereupon the minister stopped his sermon and said: "That is right, gentlemen; as fast as you are weighed, pass out!" He continued his sermon some time after that, but no one disturbed him by leaving.

FOR MEN OF WAR.

REBUILDING AT DELORO.

The work of rebuilding the works at the Deloro mine, which were destroyed by fire, has begun. The new mill will be erected at the other property of the company, not on its old site. It is understood that the new mill will be erected by the company, likely discontinuing the one heretofore in use. As there had been rumors that the concern would shut down, the information that the destroyed buildings are being reconstructed will be received with pleasure by all interested in North Hastings' gold fields—Sun.

A THOUSAND KILLED

Liverpool, June 12.—Steamers which have arrived here from Sierra Leone, report that a thousand persons were killed in the recent uprising in that district. One hundred and twenty inhabitants of the town of Yambala, who were known to be of mixed race, were massacred and other colonists were carried into the bush by the war boys and undoubtedly met a worse fate. Three hundred friendly natives were killed and buried with twelve missionaries and six colored missionaries of the United Brethren of Christ were murdered. The English missionaries are at the mercy of the war boys, but have not been molested.

LOD WOLSELEY.

New York, 12.—The London correspondent of the Evening Post says: "Lord Wolseley's early retirement from the position of commander-in-chief of the British army is certain. The news of his retirement has been so far received with a smile, but it is a fact that Lord Wolseley's name is mooted in official quarters as acceptable to Canada as Governor-General. Whether Lord Wolseley would accept is another question. Lord Wolseley was a rough soldier, and it is suggested that the Duke of Connaught may succeed Lord Roberts in command of the forces in Ireland, thus solving the question of the Royal existence in Dublin."

THE GOV.-GENERAL'S STAND APPROVED BY THE HOME GOVERNMENT.

Ottawa June 11.—A question was put to the government yesterday in the House of Commons, which stood in the name of Mr. Borden, as to whether any correspondence had taken place between the Governor-General and the Imperial authorities as to the action of the Governor-General in declining to sanction the demand of appointment made by Sir Charles Tupper in July, 1898. Mr. Prime Minister replied that such a correspondence had taken place, but it was confidential and could not be brought down. He had the permission of the Government to do so, however, to state that Mr. Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, had approved of the principle laid down by His Excellency in a memorandum concerning appointments addressed to Sir Charles Tupper on July 8.

Peter O'Sullivan entertained a number of friends on Monday evening. A most enjoyable time was spent by all.

Bicyclists Bally.

All the bicyclists of the town are urgently requested to meet at Ireland's livery, St. George street, at 8 o'clock this evening for the purpose of taking steps to form a corporation with Napanee bicyclists, the committee to be cinder path between Deseronto and Napanee, and also between Marysville and Deseronto.

The expense of such work is not very great and would be a great convenience to the whole town and an advantage to the farmers and townsmen generally. It would free the streets of many bicyclists and render it unnecessary for farmers to turn out their teams so often. The Marysville branch will have many tourists in the direction of the cinder path thus be a financial advantage to the town. It is hoped the winter bicyclists will be present.

The C. W. A. which has now 45 members, Joseph Hopkins is acting as interim secretary until organization is effected at the meeting this evening.

The success of the affair is of course due to the well laid and well carried out plans of the committee, and especially to the indefatigable energy of Messrs. Wallbridge and Co., who spent much time in making every detail a success; they even personally coated the buns with molasses and greased the pig.

Too much praise cannot be accorded the officers and the trains for their great courtesy and friendliness to the passengers, and the TRIBUNE hopes to enjoy such another day's outing with the boys of the Q. next year. The train left Sydenham at 5:30 p. m. on the return journey.

W. J. Taylor of the Tweed News was there.

"We had a lovely time" was heard on all sides.

James Stokes is the father of the first prize baby.

Judge Hagan's decisions were considered impartial.

BAY OF QUINTE RAILWAY EMPLOYEES ANNUAL EXCURSION.

The annual excursion of the Bay of Quinte Railway Employees Mutual Aid Association, which is becoming each year a more important event, and one looked forward to with greater interest and anticipation by people all along the line, was held this year at Sydenham on Wednesday of this week.

A train of two cars and a baggage car left Deseronto at 7:30 a.m. in time to catch the 8:30 a.m. train to Tweed, and one of four cars left Tweed at the same time, the engines duly decorated with flags etc., and the motto "Our Aim—Truth." The two trains met at Yarker Junction, and then proceeded to Junction in 1881, about two miles from the Union Hotel.

One can scarcely realize that this party which is now such an important one in our progress, and the prosperity of our own town and of the towns and villages between Deseronto, Tweed and Kingston is less than seventeen years old. The nucleus of this system was the building of the Victoria Bridge at Deseronto in 1851, about two miles from the town.

As soon as the exhibition of John Presley Deseronto was splendid, he deserves the Victoria Cross for the prompt and gallant manner in which he saved a drowning orange, on several occasions.

The girls in the baby show are wise men in all but one thing, that may be rectified yet. They are generous as they are wise inasmuch as they gave a prize to each baby competing. Solomon was not in it when he was proposed to divide one baby between two women, while they divided two dollars between one woman with two babies.

There was a good deal of kicking at the football game.

No mishap occurred to mar the pleasure of the day.

As soon as the bill for next year's excursion, buy a ticket.

Some gaily decorated "Straw Johns" were apparent in the bicycle parade.

Two bicyclists and others who did not compete, would not trade with us.

By reading the price list it will be seen that Deseronto made a good showing at the sports.

Chas. Yeomans made a good second at the high jump, being only two inches behind the winner.

The gate receipts at the grove amounted to over forty dollars. This amount is over and above the railway tickets.

There were a lot of fish brought home on the train, but we can't tell stories about them at least not double the rate for reading notices. Fish stories are hard on the conscience.

Newfoundland advises that the extent of the coal areas which are to be worked by Mr. Reid under his agreement with the government has been definitely ascertained. Mr. Reid will build five miles of railway to reach the coal and will begin mining operations on a large scale promptly. The coal is of splendid quality.

The sequel of the riot in Napanee about three weeks ago as given by police magistrate Daly who inflicted the following fines and costs on those who had interfered with chief Adams: John Higgins, $32.20; Walter Pybus, $20; John Davison, $61.70. Wm. Miles $62; Frank Smith, $61.20; J. F. Smith, $57.70; Fred Haycock, $36.20; Alex Morgan $33.

Admiral Cervera, says the London Chronicle, passed over in London about twelve months since, when he resided with his daughter in Kensington. He is a man of about forty years of age and is said to be a very fine cast of countenance, not usually associated with a sea-faring life. He did not go much into society while in London, but those few who had the pleasure of his acquaintance retain a very agreeable remembrance of him and of his handsome daughter.

Admiral Cervera has now joined his family to Foscarrin where he has secured a good position with his brother Walter who conducts a very large lumber business in the Georgian Bay district. The Carters were one of the oldest families in Deseronto, the head of the family Mrs. Carter having come from Croydon, England, some twenty days of Milpoint. George carried on a boot and shoe business many years. Both he and his family carry with them the best wishes of a wide circle of friends.

The rebellion in Sierra Leone, which reached very serious proportions, has apparently subsided and is quickly on the wane, though the loss of European lives, principally those of missionaries, has been great. The British troops have nowhere met with serious resistance, and Bar Burch, the rebel leader, is now anxious for peace, as his followers are deserting him. The government is about to make a truce, making trial by assessors, or by jury, optional, which causes trouble, owing to the impression that trial by jury will be done away with altogether. The trial by assessors substituted, the trial by the rebellion, which is the cause of the rebellion, will be enforced.

A Famous Old Printing House.

Thanks to the purchase of the house (Musée Plantin) and its contents by the city authorities, and through their enlightened policies, added to living hands by which the house has been well cared for, we have now before us in the Musée Plantin not only the actual picture of a medieval printing house, but an epitome of the literary history of three centuries. To pass the day here is to become once more the same familiar objects which artists and men of letters saw and handled 200 or 300 years ago.

Here are their chairs and tables, their books and manuscripts and other associations of early editors and printers. A portrait of Plantin, his wife, daughters and friends, the printing presses used for many generations, the punches of the great type of the "polyglot," and blocks of its initials, first editions and fine specimens of the work of early printers, bought, not for show or as rare, but as texts to be compared, collated or referred to for some new manuscript about to be put into the compositors hands.—Pall Mall Magazine.

MAKE SHOES LAST.

An Observant Man Gives Some Pointers to His Fellow Men.

A man who is a city man and has been a parent of business for 30 years has learned something about shoes and how they should be cared for.

"I do not buy the most expensive footwear," he said, "because I consider it to be a waste of money, but a pair of shoes will last me two years before they show a sign of wear. I always buy leather shoes, and always sometimes half soiled, but the uppers are good generally when I get tired of them and throw them away. It is all a matter of supplying the leather with the oil that has got into the atmosphere in a natural way. It is very hard to find a leather if you will, though, tanned and used is on the hide in preparing it for commerce, and that is very drying. Indeed, leather in which too much of it has been used can never be made flexible. It cracks and breaks in little while. I am wearing now of black shoes. I do not wear tan or greens. I do not so foolish as that."

"Insist always that your bootblack shall use a slight quantity of oil when giving you a shine. Rubbing a little of it on with a rag will make the leather more pliable, and more lasting shoes. No bootblack will do this unless you tell him, because the bootblack is about the most trifling human being that lives. It is his idea always to think he is world's end of little trouble as possible to him. He is an easy and lucrative way of making a living, and he does not propose to change it in any way unless you make him."

"I am a blacking and blacking have been put on see that the finish is good with a piece of Canton flannel. You should have a tendency to roughen the leather, and the cloth works the oil into the shoe more perfectly. A shine of this kind obtained from a competent man will last two days and look well at the end of the second day in dry weather."—Chicago Times-Herald.

"Dear boy—I do not see what possible objection you can offer to me, Mr. Gimp."

Gimp—That's just it. I don't want a man in my family so infernally good that my wife and daughter will continually hold him up as an example to me.—Philadelphia North American.

DON'T WORRY, DEAR.

Don't worry, dear. The bluestockings are the forward view. Each thin to nothing when it wears. And you may smother through. The bluestockings never comes. It only leaves when it wears. The loss of hope is what numbs. No trouble.

Don't worry, dear. The clouds are black. But with them comes the rain. And with clouds that perch and crack May thrill with sonorous tones. And there'll be no noise to hear. Hard work has never killed a man. But worry did it share.

Don't worry, dear! don't blanch, don't. But dare the eyes to open. Nor give the energy the tell. These little woes that hover near Are nothing, though they grieve. And life and love are dear.

—Samuel Johnson in Youth's Companion.

THE MISSING FAN.

"My fan, some one has taken my fan!"

Lady Mary Vancouver was a pretty, smart little widow, richly endowed and a great personal favorite.

It was at the hunt ball at Weatherley that she exclaimed about the loss of her fan, having left it for a few minutes on a seat while she danced with Sir Henry Willock. Lady Mary always had a court of admirers. They assembled round her when she stated her loss, and a vigorous search for the missing fan was at once begun, but with no successful result.

It was decided to be found out who belonged to my fan. The bluestockings were the ones to take in order to cultivate him. Besides had she not told Sir Henry that he was handsome? Poor Sir Henry! He had no such cause for jealousy, and so he would have thought could he have watched the fete-a-tete.

At last M. de Lanteuil felt that he must no longer, and having obtained a promise that Lady Mary would drive over to Fotheringay castle to dinner he departed, leaving the lady in a state bordering on anger, who was by this time in chronic depression.

She was beautifully dressed, wore lovely jewels and looked charming when she entered the drawing room at the castle.

Dinner was soon after announced, but not a word was said about a surprise, though Lady Mary was on the tip-toe of expectation, longing to know what it could possibly be. So excited was she about the surprise that she almost forgot how much she was in love with the marquis, while, as for the lost fan, she had for the time being ceased to remember that she ever possessed one.

It was the latter gentleman who had given the hint after dinner that there was any question of the momentous surprise.

Then it was that the groom of the chamber came up to Lady Mary with all the pompous dignity his office imposed and presented her with a packet.

With impatience and in some trepidation, since every eye was upon her, she tore aside the paper that enveloped it.

"My fan—my dear, darling lost fan!" she cried. "Who is the lucky being who found it? This is indeed a surprise."

"M. de Lanteuil," said the duchess.

"How could you give it to get it back?" asked one of those who stood around.

"Myself and my whole fortune," was the somewhat astonishing answer.

There was a laugh and a murmur of "Happy fan to be so highly valued."

But Lady Mary did not apparently perceive that she had spoken extravagantly. She was of Scotch descent, very superstitious, and on that account far more than on account of the intrinsic value of the fan she was inclined to make herself downright ill and miserable.

No more dancing! She could not dance when she was in mourning for her beautiful fan, but as she was chaperoning two young cousins she staid on till the ballroom was thinning. Sir Henry Willock remained in devoted attendance, but he was not the only one who did so. He was supposed to be the favored suitor and there were others who were jealous of him. The loss of the fan and the reward she had offered, though, of course, he could not believe that she really meant it, annoyed him. To the others it gave zest, and the fervor to win Lady Mary's much coveted favor increased since she herself had shown the means by which the race might be won.

Sir Henry conducted her to her carriage. It was a four mile drive to the Moated Grange, which was a lonely dwelling for a lonely woman.

"Do you know M. de Lanteuil—Marquis de Lanteuil is he?" she asked Sir Henry as they went down the staircase.

"Never saw him till tonight."

"He is handsome," she went on. "Staying at the Duke of Fotheringay's, he must be somebody. If I had not been so unhappy, I should have cultivated him and asked him to the wedding."

"A more foreigner," remarked Sir Henry. "One can never be sure of those fellows."

For a moment their hands met in one fervent grasp, and she was gone.

favorite at Fotheringay and asked if she would be kind to him as a foreigner and a friend. The bluestockings, also to be sure, to come that evening.

"What is the surprise?" she asked, looking up at him.

"If Mme. la Duchesse has not revealed the secret, how shall I?" was the guarded answer.

"The duchess loves mystery," she said. "She is fond of the unknown. If you would see the beauties of the Grange, you must come in the summer."

"With pleasure, madame."

"All I can show you now is the crid house."

She led the way along a crooked path that led to a hothouse. The rearing of orchids was her pet amusement.

M. de Lanteuil was a bluestocking. Never before had he seen such lovely specimens. He himself was a connoisseur. But what seemed to entrance him more even than the exquisite blooms was the lady herself. It was in order to pass an hour with her that he had persuaded the duchess to let him go with a message to the Grange. And what did Lady Mary think of him? He cultivated criticism of his own estate, and found the discovery there was a place for her many steps to take in order to cultivate him. Besides had she not told Sir Henry that he was handsome? Poor Sir Henry! He had no such cause for jealousy, and so he would have thought could he have watched the fete-a-tete.

"And the reward, Lady Mary—the large reward you offered?"

"My promise shall be redeemed," she whispered.

On Going to Bed Hungry.

All animals, except man, eat before sleeping, and there is no reason why man should form an exception to the rule. Fasting during the long interval between supper and breakfast, especially the complete emptiness of the stomach, causes sleepiness greatly to increase, and the amount of sleeplessness, sleeplessness and general weakness so often met with.

It is well known that in the body there is a perpetual disintegration of tissue, sleeping or waking. It is therefore reasonable to believe that the supply of nourishment should be somewhat continuous, especially in those in whom the vitality is lowered.

As bodily exercise is suspended during sleep, with wear and tear correspondingly diminished, while digestion, assimilation and nutritive activity continue, the result is that the body during this period of rest is destroyed, and increased weight and improved general vigor is the result.

If the weakly, the emaciated and the sleepless were to take slightly a light meal of simple, nutritious food before going to bed for a prolonged period, they would be raised to a better standard of health.

It has been our experience that after digesting a bowl of bread and milk or a hearty oatmeal before going to bed, for a few hours, there is a remarkable weight, strength and general tone has resulted. This course is not recommended to those persons who are weak and plethoric.—New York Ledger.

"Who can that be in such weather?" M. de Lanteuil was announced.

She looked just a little astonished, as she had not asked him to call.

He bowed profoundly and explained. "I have been sent by the Duchess of Fotheringay on a mission to ask you to come to the wedding ceremony and come to dine with us. A ring at the visitors' bell, however, made Lady Mary once more alert.

"Some woman, of course," she said bitterly. "How I hate my own sex! They are always mean and cruel!"

It was an unpleasant, misty day, which might perhaps account for an increase of the weather. A ring at the visitors' bell, however, made Lady Mary once more alert.

Lady Mary took the note and wondered why this man was sent with it instead of a servant.

It told her that "M. de Lanteuil was Paine's Celery Compound is Your Only Hope.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.

GENTLEMEN—It is my duty to let the public know what Paine's Celery Compound did for me, and trust it will be a benefit to other sufferers.

I was much reduced in flesh and in a thoroughly broken down condition, resulting in dyspepsia and nervousness. I was soon relieved of these symptoms by the use of Paine's Celery Compound. I do not know what the best remedy is, but I do know that it is a great benefit to other sufferers.

A Problem In Mute Love-making.

Paul Milliken, who is quite in the language of deaf mutes, says this morning he was coming down the Avondale car, when he became interested in a woman who was talking to him.

"Say, I want your advice," said one of them, using his hands as vocal organs.

"I shall be happy to oblige you," said the other.

"Are you up on the tricks of women?"

The second man modestly admitted that he knew something of the gender sex, although he did not know an oracle.

"Well," responded the first, "I have a strong knowledge of the right and wrong."

"Well, I am a doctor," said the second.

"I have a strong knowledge of the right and wrong."
